CODE OF ETHICS

The purpose of the Code of Ethics is to develop and maintain a standard of conduct that is acceptable to both the community and the membership.

We, as members, agree to uphold this Code of Ethics in all our dealings with fellow members, customers and the community as follows:

- Put the safety and wellbeing of yourself, staff, customers, and the community, first.
- Demonstrate honesty and professionalism to all parties you deal with in a positive manner when dealing with government bodies, the community and other associations.
- Not solicit for work either by calling into question the ability or integrity of another member or by offering or paying to a prospective client financial or material inducements.
- Not disclose to any third person any finding on behalf of the client without the client's permission, unless there is no way other than disclosure, of averting an immediate risk of death or serious injury. Where disclosure is to occur, the relevant member should notify the client.
- Ensure all advice given is based on the best available scientific, and current industry evidence.
- Engage responsibly with the community and other stakeholders – be sensitive to public concerns.
- Demonstrate integrity – act on the basis of a well-informed conscience and act impartially and objectively to ensure community trust and confidence in the DAIA brand.
- Demonstrate respect for the DAIA brand and take responsibility for ensuring factual information in all advertising.
- Be honest and trustworthy – respect confidentiality obligations, express or implied and do not engage in fraudulent, corrupt or criminal conduct. Uphold the reputation and trustworthiness of the DAIA brand and advocate and support the extension of ethical practice. Always engage responsibly for public debate and deliberation.
- Meet financial obligations to subcontractors and suppliers on agreed trading terms or as negotiated
- Uphold and promote DAIA as a brand that can be trusted.
- Respect the dignity of all persons – treat others with courtesy and without discrimination or harassment.
- Maintain and continue to develop relevant knowledge and expertise.
- Any breaches of the spirit of the Code of Ethics may be dealt with under the provisions of the Demolition & Asbestos Industry Association (Queensland) Inc. Constitution.
